Information for business partners, colleagues and friends of CML

C M L stands for Circuit M i s i o n and in our company, this does not only apply for the printed circuit board, but it also stands for

“in the midst of life”.

In the social environment, we are situated between wealth and poverty and the gap is constantly widening. For us, it is important to not only talk about helping but also to act whilst we contribute actively by giving financial support to institutions or people in need.

Since its foundation, CML has grown steadily and successfully, and consequently we think that our social obligation to our fellow human beings has grown also. This however, involves not only an obligation for our immediate neighborhood but also, being completely in line with CML, an obligation with a global focus.

Both of the CML founders, Klaus Jacob and Günter Hoeft, have already let this vision become a reality in 2005 when they established the former CML-Europe Jacob-Hoeft-Foundation.

Since then, all sorts of projects are supported each year and it reveals over and over again how important such an engagement is.

With this letter, we would like to inform you about our work and would therefore appreciate if we, due to an expanded network, can discover projects that need our help.

In this context we are thinking of organizations, associations and individuals that we can support, of whom we know that our help is needed and where the aid will reach its intended purpose.

According to our foundation goal, we support or rather promote projects especially in the field of:

- youth welfare/ volunteer groups and association activities
- persons that are dependent on aid due to their physical or social situation
- promotion of care responsibilities
- nursing care
- family centers
- organization of environmental care

We offer our help to your own organization or upon your recommendation, to an institution that you are familiar with. This can involve the support of once-off projects or also a recurring aid. Please contact us.

Our funds should benefit people in need of help worldwide. Nowadays, we already have our own contacts in Asia, especially in Hong Kong and China, and also in America, namely Mexico.

Currently an annual budget is being provided for our foundation and with this we will support projects with individual amounts.

We ask for your understanding that we are not entitled to grant any claim for support. The executive board of the CML Jacob-Hoeft Foundation will decide on the resource allocation and also on the projects that are to be funded.

We are looking forward to receiving your funding request, which is available online at www.cml.ag and www.cml-eurasia.hk.

With best regards
